Robert E. Hirshon is an internationally known lawyer, writer and speaker. He practiced law for 30 years in the Portland, Maine law firm of Drummond, Woodsum & MacMahon, P.A. Hirshon served on the firm's Board of Directors and was Chair of the firm's Financial Services Practice Group. Hirshon served as President and Chief Executive Officer of the Maine State Bar Association, the Maine Bar Foundation and the American Bar Association. As President of the American Bar Association, Hirshon was the spokesperson for the world's largest professional association and determined how and when the Association should speak on important national and international issues such as the profession's response to the September 11th tragedy and various corporate scandals. Under his leadership, the Association redesigned its annual meeting, automated its presidential appointment process and focused upon the issues surrounding law student debt and the professional ramifications of increasing billable hour requirements. During his three years as an officer of the ABA, he traveled to numerous countries, meeting with judges, members of the bar, and political and corporate leaders.

Hirshon served as the CEO of Tonkon Torp LLP, an Oregon law firm of 70 lawyers, eight senior managers and 90 staff members. At Tonkon, he restructured the firm's administrative departments, oversaw a major technology initiative, facilitated the adoption and implementation of the firm's strategic plan, created a speaker's bureau focusing on professionalism and helped to design and implement a system of partner peer review. Under his leadership, Tonkon Torp launched an ambitious diversity program, embraced a new pro bono policy based upon Model Rule 6.1 and redesigned its budgeting process to provide for greater transparency and accountability. During his tenure, the firm enjoyed record increases in both reserves and per partner profits.

Hirshon also served as the COO of Stoel Rives LLP, a 370 lawyer Western regional law firm with offices in 11 cities and seven states. At Stoel, his responsibilities included supervising the senior administrative directors, providing support to the firm's departments and committees, operational oversight of the firm's offices and participation in the firm's Executive and Retirement and Investment Committees.

Presently Hirshon is the Frank G. Millard Professor from Practice at the University of Michigan Law School where he teaches courses on professional responsibility and the business of lawyering. He also serves as The University of Michigan's Special Counsel on Developments in the Legal Profession. Additionally, Hirshon is the CEO of The Wein Charitable Foundation. The Foundation provides grants to nonprofit organizations which focus on medical and legal issues. Hirshon has complete management responsibility for the foundation and is directly involved in the administration of grants; he oversees the investment strategies of the endowment. Hirshon also serves as a consultant to the regional law firm, Verrill Dana, LLP. In that capacity he provides the firm with advice on ethical and law practice management issues.

Hirshon is the recipient of several honorary degrees. He has substantial litigation and legislative experience. He has represented business entities and associations, has testified in countless legislative hearings in both state legislatures and Congress and has worked closely with the members and staff of both major political parties.
